Winner of the 2007 EVCJ Award for “Administrator of the Year”

Schroders Private Equity Services (“SPES”) is pleased to announce that it has won the 2007 European Venture Capital Journal (“EVCJ”) award for “Administrator of the Year”, as voted for by its subscribers. This was a newly created category by the EVCJ and its timing was fitting since, increasingly, private equity funds are choosing to outsource their fund administration due to the importance of maintaining high quality investor services. The number of fund administration service providers worldwide is commensurately increasing and therefore winning this award acknowledges SPES’ business philosophy and success.

SPES operates from offices in Bermuda and Guernsey, and specialises in providing quality services to the Private Equity industry, including Fund of Funds, Property Funds, and managing special structures for clients. Its client base is diversified across geographies, industries and types of funds. SPES’ philosophy is to maintain continued and controlled growth in both jurisdictions, without compromising its ability to deliver services as promised.

SPES’ primary objective is to provide clients with the best private equity management and fund administration services available. This is achieved through a combination of staffing top quality people, utilising industry-leading systems, and emphasising strong internal controls. With a talented and dedicated team of qualified professionals on staff, SPES focuses on recruiting and retaining only the best, which is built into its corporate mission statement and company objectives. The tireless efforts of its staff, together with a hands-on approach, a bespoke service, and robust systems, is why SPES feels it has won this award.

We thank everyone for their continued support and will continue to deliver the high level of quality service that resulted in winning this industry award. For more information about the EVCJ Awards, please visit their website at: www.evcjawards.com.
